

Christopher Collins

Chris is a Cardiac Sonographer based at Dunedin Public Hospital in the far south of New Zealand. Chris completed his Bachelor of Biomedical Science at the University of Otago, and began his career in cardiology in 2017, training initially as a Cardiac Physiologist. He found his passion for Echocardiography here, enrolling in the diploma of medical ultrasonography in 2019. Chris thoroughly enjoyed his studies and would like to thank the ASUM staff and tutors for their efforts in running a great course. Chris is thankful for the support of the Dunedin Cardiology Department, especially his DMU supervisor Rachel Reddy, and Dunedin's charge cardiac sonographer James Cadogan. In the future Chris is looking forward to furthering his skills, especially in adult congenital, paediatric and neonatal cardiac ultrasound.