

Biography:

Dr Nathan Peters

Dr Nathan Peters is a Senior Staff Specialist Anaesthetist working in both public and private practice and shares time between the Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital and the Wesley Hospital in Brisbane, Queensland. In addition to clinical anaesthesia care his particular interest is in ensuring the benefits of point of care ultrasound (POCUS) can be delivered to patients at the bedside. In pursuing this interest, he has developed and implemented state-wide POCUS education programs and published multiple original research articles. As a result of his work in this area he has received multiple prestigious awards both locally and nationally.

